THE KREMLIN IN PERIL

A Large Mine Discovered Connecting Therewith.

A Fenian Nitro-Glycerine Factory Found in Full Operation--Socialists Bounced from Denmark.

FRANKFORT, April 5.—The Gazette publishes a telegram from Moscow, stating that a large mine has been discovered connecting with the Kremlin, where the coronation of the Czar is to take place. The telegram also states that a request has been wired to St. Petersburg for 100 sappers to be sent at once to Moscow for the purpose of destroying the mine.

PARIS, April 5.—Madame Louise Michel has written a letter to the Intransigent with reference to her examination by the Judge of Instruction. She denies having any knowledge of the men who gave evidence against her, and declares that she is surprised at being charged with inciting the pillage of the baker shops. General Millen, the well known Irish soldier and Fenian leader, has arrived here. It is reported that he will direct the Irish movement against England through an Irish Socialist Congress, which will denounce the use of force, especially as regards political assassinations and the employment of explosives in the struggle to secure the freedom of Ireland from British rule.

COPENHAGEN, April 5.—The Socialist Congress was treated to an unwelcome surprise from the Danish Government. On the fourth day, while in the midst of its session, the Prefect of Police, after having held a full conference with the King and secured his approval, sent to Gillert Tiedebrecht, one of the most outspoken delegates, who was looked upon as a leader in the Congress, and served on him an order to close the Congress forthwith. Those members who came from foreign countries were informed that it was desired by the Danish authorities that they leave Denmark not later than Tuesday.

LONDON, April 5.—A semi-weekly newspaper called the "City Press," in an edition published yesterday evening, announced that it had received a letter without signature, in which the writer threatened to blow up the Government offices. The affair was referred to the police, and late last night English detectives, assisted by members of the Irish Secret Service, succeeded in arresting a man who had in his possession a quantity of stuff supposed to be dynamite. Extra sentinels were posted at Windsor Castle and the postoffice. Policemen and detectives are keeping close watch in suspicious localities.

BIRMINGHAM, April 5.—The city police made a raid upon a suspected locality in Ledsam street, Ladywood, and discovered a Fenian nitro-glycerine factory in full operation.

The apparatus for preparing and mixing the explosive compounds are constructed on scientific principles and with all the cunning craft, which clearly showed its inventor to be not only a thorough scholar in chemistry and machinery, but also an adept for expedients for avoiding notoriety and preventing discovery. Among the noteworthy features of the place was a shrewdly devised method for carrying the fumes up the chimney and consuming the odors.

It is learned that the premises in Lidsam street were taken two months ago by a man named Whitehead, an Irish-American, who had a sign hung out in front of the place indicating that his business was that of a paper-hanger. Whitehead himself was taken into custody when the police made the descent on the den, and is now in close confinement. A considerable quantity of nitro-glycerine was seized by the officers at the same time.

Whitehead, who is described as a man about twenty-five years of age, dark complexion, and with a marked American accent, has been in the habit of purchasing supplies of nitro-glycerine and acids, which are necessary to run the business.

IRON MANUFACTURERS,

In Council at Pittsburg, Decide to Cut Down Wages.

PITTSBURG, April 5.—The iron manufacturers of the West have quietly prepared a great surprise for their employees, and the public in general. An agent has been working in secret for three weeks past. The names of the iron manufacturers doing business in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Wheeling, Covington, Chicago, St. Louis, and other Western cities yesterday appeared on the hotel registers. At about 10 o'clock these men entered the rooms of the Western Iron Association and the doors were closed to outsiders. They were not opened until 1:30 o'clock. The business considered was the wages to be paid next year. The men, who had been meeting mysteriously, presented a revision of the scales of the present year, and this was discussed, and after some minor changes adopted the basis on which the manufacturers will stand. The figures could not be ascertained, but it was learned without doubt that they propose a reduction in wages of from 10 to 20 per cent. The reduction takes in the whole list of mill workmen—polders, as well as finishers coming in for their share. It is made necessary, the manufacturers say, by the condition of trade and the reduction of the tariff, and will not be diverted from.

Arrangements for Peter Cooper's Funeral.

NEW YORK, April 5.—The funeral of Peter Cooper will take place Saturday morning, at All Souls' Church. Rev. Mrs. Robert T. Colyer and Howard Crosby will officiate. The pall-bearers will be Hamilton Fish, Wilson G. Hunt, Charles P. Daly, John T. Agnew, Alexander S. Webb, Henry L. Pierson, Jackson S. Schultz, W. H. Appleton, A. A. Low, Cyrus W. Field, John E. Parsons and H. M. Shieffelin. The interment will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Death of General Barnes.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Brigadier General Joseph K. Barnes, retired, late Surgeon General of the United States Army, died at his residence in this city this morning, of Bright's disease.

GOVERNOR BUTLER'S PROBE

Progress of the Investigation of the Tewksbury Almshouse.

BOSTON, April 5.—In the Tewksbury Almshouse investigation the chairman asked to have the issue as to whether bodies had been delivered to medical schools eliminated, as that will not be disputed. Governor Butler replied that he expected to prove that bodies had been delivered elsewhere, some to be skinned, and the skin mummied. He proposes to show that after bodies had been buried they had been taken up and sent away, and said he would go into the graveyard at Tewksbury and produce some of the alleged "remains." This investigation was to go on to prove the testimony which had been given, to be absolutely false. The books, which had been sent to him as records of the almshouse, were not complete; they were copies of the original books. He wanted the latter, embracing those recording the death and sale of dead bodies.

The chairman said it was claimed that no dead bodies were sold; hence, there were no records to be produced. But the Governor said he would prove the contrary.

Thomas Hall, who worked at the Tewksbury from 1874 to 1877, testified that he had all the dead to bury while he was there. He took them from the dead house under orders of Thomas J. Marsh, Jr., and Captain Manning; used to come and get the dead bodies, carrying them away in two zinc air-tight trunks. During the winters he was there the bodies averaged sixty-five to seventy-five; they were not sent in hot weather; no pickling was done while he was there. The bodies received from the State Prison for burial at the almshouse were, with one exception, sent away for dissection. When witness left he was paid $100 for his winter's work, and for handling bodies. He thought Tom Marsh used to collect money from Harvard College. Witness acknowledged that he had been doing something wrong. The hearing was adjourned to Monday.

Whisky Exportation to Canada.

OTTAWA, April 5.—The Canadian Ministry has decided adversely to any alteration of the existing regulations which prohibit the importation of whisky from the United States in packages of less than 100 imperial gallons. The Dominion distillers have entered a protest against any change of the law, but the representative of the United States whisky men, after consultation with the Dominion distillers, has solicited a modified change, which practically gives to these whiskies an additional bonding period of three years, and will, to the fullest extent, relieve the American whisky market in the present depressed condition. The United States Government has signified to the authorities here that it has no objection to any modification that may be made in the Canadian laws affecting the exportation of whiskies from the United States, and as the Canadian distillers have joined with Secretary Pratt, of the American Distillers' Association, in seeking this limited modification, it is thought there will be no difficulty in immediately securing such a change at the hands of the Canadian Ministry.

Darrest's Comet Coming.

BOSTON, April 5.—A cable message received last evening at the Harvard College Observatory from the European Association of Astronomers, announces the discovery of Darrest's comet by Dr. E. Hartwig, of the Strasburg Observatory. It describes its position as follows: "April 31, 61 Greenwich, mean time, right ascension, 13 hours, 55.4 minutes; declination north 8 degrees 16 minutes. Its daily motion in right ascension 44 seconds, and in declination 9 minutes." Darrest's comet is a periodical comet, its period being 62.3 years. This is its sixth appearance, and it will be watched by astronomers with great interest.

THE STAR ROUTE.

Harvey M. Valle, Defendant, on the Stand.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Harvey M. Valle, one of the defendants in the Star Route cases, took the stand and testified that he met General Brady in the Postoffice Department, but never made any arrangements with Brady by which he gave him anything. Between 1876 and 1878 he met all the defendants. Miner came to him in 1878 and stated that he was financially embarrassed, and asked witness to take his mail routes, about 100 in number. At first he refused, but subsequently accepted. He went to General Brady and asked an extension for sixteen days, which was granted. He made no offer or promise of compensation to General Brady for this favor. "Did you receive a telegram from General Brady while in Missouri?" asked Mr. Henkle.

"I did," answered the witness. He was about to state the contents of his reply when the prosecution objected, and after a half hour's discussion the reply was allowed by the Court.

Witness then stated that he replied that he would put in operation all the routes of Miner, Peck and Dorsey.

He quarreled with Dorsey in 1878. Their differences were about certain drafts that had been hypothecated at a bank for indebtedness. Afterwards they divided their routes by lot. Witness took forty, and Dorsey and Peck thirty. S. W. Dorsey represented J. W. Dorsey, and the drawing took place at Dorsey's house. General Brady, he said, was not in the transaction.

IRELAND.

Phoenix Park Murders—Michael Davitt's Policy—A Parnell Demonstration a Failure.

DUBLIN, April 5.—The trial of the prisoners charged with the Phoenix Park murders and other crimes, which was expected to begin Tuesday next, will be postponed for a few days, owing to the fact that sufficient funds have not been raised to conduct the defense of the prisoners. It is the intention of the accused men when asked on arraignment if they are ready for trial, to request that they be furnished with counsel. The trials, it is said, will be delayed until their counsel have been instructed.

Michael Davitt has written a vigorous letter to the Young Ireland Society of Glasgow, in which he says the dynamite policy can only have the effect of exasperating the English democracy. He declares that it would be far better to work and wait for another twenty years than play into the hands of Ireland's enemies by giving rein to despair and revenge.

LIMERICK, April 5.—A public meeting which was held here yesterday for the purpose of giving to Parnell a substantial testimonial of the estimation in which he is held, proved to be a fiasco. Only forty persons subscribed to the projected fund for raising the incumbrance on his farm, and the scheme was temporarily abandoned.

A Day's Big Business.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The number and value of stamps, stamped envelopes and postal cards called for by postmasters' requisitions received at the Postoffice Department to-day were as follows: Number of stamps, 23,000,000; envelopes, 1,000,000; postal cards, 2,100,000; aggregate value, $700,000. These orders exceed in the aggregate any ever before received in one day.

National Theatre in Berlin Burned.

BERLIN, April 5.—The National Theatre has been completely destroyed by fire. The contents, including the wardrobes, theatre properties and scenery, were also burned. Nothing was saved. No loss of life and no injury. No entertainment was being given in the theatre. The damage to the surrounding buildings is comparatively small.

Death of a Millionaire Mexican.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 4.—Jose Leandro Penros, political autocrat of New Mexico, was buried at Bernabito. He was the head of the wealthiest and most influential Mexican family in the Territory, representing with his sons over $5,000,000. The family for fifteen years has controlled the Territorial elections and the Legislature. The funeral was a grand affair.

Exaggerated Report Corrected.

ST. LOUIS, April 5.—There is no truth in the stories of the great prevalence of smallpox in this city. There are a few cases of the disease in one of the southern wards, in the vicinity of St. Peter and Paul's Catholic School, where it first appeared two weeks ago.

Gresham's Successor.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., April 5.—The all-absorbing topic here is with respect to the probable successor of Judge Gresham. Among the names mentioned are those of Hon. C. C. Hines, W. H. H. Miller, William Wallace, John M. Butler and John Coburn, of this city; Hon. Robert S. Taylor, of Fort Wayne; Judge W. A. Woods, of the State Supreme Bench, and Judge John F. Kebby, of Richmond.

TO THE SURFACE AGAIN.

Rev. Adirondack Murray in the Old Role.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., April 5.—Rev. W. H. H. Murray, of Adirondack fame, has suddenly disappeared, leaving behind him debts to the amount of $12,000. Connected with his disappearance there is revived the old scandal about an intimate female friend, who is said to have preceded him in his flight. For some time he has been deeply in debt, and has been putting off his creditors with promises. On Thursday morning his female friend took a north-bound train. On Saturday Murray was seen to drive out through a back street, and take the Sequin road. He had a pair of horses attached to an army wagon. He loaded the Cibola river and went to Sequin Station. He was in New Orleans on Sunday evening. Here all trace of him was lost. Last fall he became so much impoverished that he had to resort to hawking wood for a living. He was then a very different looking man, dressed in brown overalls tucked into coarse cowhide boots, and a blue and white checkered shirt, from the handsomely clad and popular pastor of the largest congregation in Boston.

Remarkably Strange Accident.

MADISON, IND., April 5.—Monday last John Banks, aged fifteen, accompanied by a younger brother, went out back of Emmons Coffield's farm, in Hunter's Bottom, Ky., to shoot blackbirds. In attempting to shoot, one cap snapped, which frightened the birds away, and he then discharged the other barrel of his shotgun into the trunk of the tree, and walked up and examined the result of the shot, and then began to load the empty barrel of his gun, when the old charge in the other barrel went off and passed up through the top of his head, killing him instantly. The gun had evidently held fire a length of time almost unprecedented.

A Washington Shooting Scrape.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—H. H. Alexander, the well-known stenographer, who reported the first Star-route and the Guiteau trials, visited the room of Anna L. Field, a stenographer and typewriter in his employ. A difficulty arose, during which a pistol shot was fired. The ball lodged in the person of Abraham B. Jacques, the cab-driver who accompanied Alexander, inflicting a dangerous wound. Alexander fled, and could be found. The woman says she did not fire the bullet, but the coachman says she did, and she has been lodged in jail. The mystery of the shooting and the escapade of the party causes a local sensation.

The Persecutors.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The President started on his Southern trip to-day, on the 11:25 train, and on the same train went a number of newspaper correspondents, who will lay before the country the President's feats—piscatorial, bibulous and otherwise. To say that every one here, even Indians, are surprised at the President's selection of a Postmaster General, is to express it very mildly. It was like a clap of thunder from a clear sky. Hon. Frank Hutton, who was so confident of the appointment, is said to feel very sore over the matter.

Anti-Deadhead Bill.

HARRISBURG, April 5.—The Everhardt free pass bill passed the Senate yesterday. It prohibits the issuing of free passes by railroad companies to any one except officers and employees, and a violation subjects offenders to fine or imprisonment. Nineteen Democrats and thirteen Republicans voted for the bill. The House had passed an almost similar bill through the second reading, and it will probably substitute for it the one passed by the Senate.

Fall of a High-Toned Young Man.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., April 5.—E. S. Walton, a high-toned young man from Philadelphia, and a graduate of Harvard University, was arrested last evening, charged with stealing money from his employers, Saver & Smith, for whom he was book-keeper. Walton confessed, and is likely to go to the Penitentiary.

The Ohio Legislature has agreed on the report of a conference committee for the submission of two propositions for amendments to the constitution on the liquor question. One provides for prohibition, and the other legislative control.

The appointment of Judge W. G. Gresham to be Postmaster General, has been announced from Washington and is very favorably commented upon by the Republican press. He was a Major General during the war and has not been very actively engaged in politics since. He is credited with good executive ability and his friends look for a vigorous and efficient administration of postal affairs.

The President's carriage which is said to be the finest that has ever appeared in the streets of this city, has a duplicate in this city. It belongs to Messrs. Mose Hamilton & Bro., and was made at Wilmington, Delaware, by the same firm that made the President's and after the same pattern. The carriage is a landmark of novel design painted a dark mellow green, and enough picking out in red to show the outline without being conspicuous. The trimmings are of morocco and cloth, the cushions and doors being faced with heavy laces. The dress blankets are of heavy dark green Kersy, and the drivers lap robe of green English box cloth. The monogram of the owners of this handsome vehicle is painted in neat characters on the panel of the door. It is certainly a very handsome turnout.

The Cochran Inspection Bill.

The Western Tobacco Journal which is bitterly opposed to the passage of this measure by the Legislature of Ohio says: Any one who knows anything of the history of tobacco inspections, and the importance attached to them, knows full well if the Cochran law goes into effect it will result in so demoralizing the inspections that inside of a year after the time of its enforcement the rejections of this market would fall to the level of the Maryland inspections in the estimation of the general trade, and any one acquainted with the tobacco trade knows full well that the inspections of Maryland are ranked the lowest of any placed on the market, and that the State inspection system is responsible for such a state of affairs. We appeal to the Senators of the Ohio Legislature, is it sensible to disrupt a trade, which is especially prosperous, on account of the observance of rules and regulations which were designed by men whose long experience and integrity have operated to protect both buyers and sellers, by the passage of legislation, which, if enforced, will operate to do that which it is especially desirous to avoid? The appointment of an inspector for each warehouse by the Probate Judge, under an insignificant bond, would not maintain the present high standard of the market and instead of samples being uniform as now, they would be as various in character as the inspectors were numerous, and it is easy to conceive what this would lead to.

Buyers and manufacturers would soon begin to complain, as probably they would obtain at one warehouse hogheads a cent or two per pound lower than what they would obtain the same class of tobacco at another house, due wholly to the manner of selecting and grading the tobacco. A demoralized condition once prevailing it would be hard to bring order out of chaos, and instead of trade improving it would soon begin to decrease, and the decline of trade would probably be more rapid than has been the increase in the past few years. As we said before there has been no general dissatisfaction expressed, the great bulk of shippers and planters of Kentucky showing as warm an interest in the success of the market as ever. They know full well the system is as fair a one as could be devised, and they know, too, that buyers of White Burley naturally gravitate toward this market, and that therefore the best prices are here attainable. As they have as much at stake (and more in fact) as the Brown county planters and shippers, and are as jealous as them of their rights, what should prevent them from expressing their dissatisfaction? Nothing whatever, and as they have given their Brown county brethren no moral individual support, the inference, or in fact the conviction is strong that the Brown county brethren (those few who are pushing the bill) have a grievance to avenge. When it is remembered that from these same parties came the opposition to the stringent rules adopted for the purpose of discouraging nesting, the singularity and fervor of their endeavors for "reform" is not so striking, and a strong inference can be drawn.

Babies Wedded.

Cincinnati Enquirer April 4th.

One of the most youthful couples that were ever married in Kenton county, were joined in wedlock last night. The groom is George F. Kyle, aged fourteen years, son of George F. Kyle, and Lizzie May Hollingshead, aged thirteen years. They were married last night at the residence of the groom's parents, near South Covington, in the presence of a few of their most intimate friends. The bride is an orphan, and in order to obtain license to wed, the father qualified as her guardian, and he then consented to the issuing of the license and gave his assent to the marriage. The combined ages of the twain is only a few years more than the lawful matrimonial age in the grand old Commonwealth. The bride is not a voluptuous looking girl, and, in fact, resembled a child that had not passed the spanking age, and the groom was not her superior in this respect. The bride was modestly and neatly attired, and resembled a little girl that was dressing for her first attendance at a children's party. The twain were evidently quite fond of each other. There was none of that style of love there is generally displayed at a wedding, and when the minister pronounced them man and wife they faced each other for a moment, and suddenly the childish groom bashfully embraced his diminutive bride. It was a rather strange sight, and looked more like a children's mock marriage than a solemn reality. The couple are not wealthy and their parents are only in ordinary financial circumstances.

ABERDEEN ITEMS.

Election days are a farce. There is more fraud work done there honest work on that day. A thirty traveler's vote is easily bought by a refreshing drink.

The handsome Chicagoan's arrival will settle this all-absorbing and important question. Have patience.

Mr. A. J. Crope, from Socorro, New Mexico, after a short but pleasant visit to his relatives in Aberdeen, left to take a trip over the C. S. railroad to Chattanooga, where he had been one of the engineer corps in his survey.

There is a general fixing up among property holders, and their labors will be amply repaid by the pleasing appearance it will give the town.

The time is near at hand when houses will be torn to pieces, brooms and scrubbing brushes are wielded with such dexterity that the husband trembles at meal times, as his appearance is an unpardonable distraction.

If people only knew what a comical appearance they presented when at church in trying their hands to inspect late arrivals, they would be more respectful and attentive to their preacher.

Girls don't envelop young pretty faces in those horrid brown veils any more. When freckles are compared to "brown eyed dusks slumbering in a field of cream." If every man will have the charity to look on them in this light, when they are an additional embellishment.

FRIDAY EVE., APRIL 6, 1883.

And still they gazed,
And still the wonder grew,
That such a little town should hold
The ashes that they threw,
And broader grew the great surprise
When people came to see,
That certain solid men were asked,
If this here ought to be.

HIS PA AN ORANGEMAN.

Peck's Sun.

"Say, will you do me a favor," asked the bad boy of the grocery man, as he sat down on the soap box and put his wet boots on the stove.

"Well, y-es," said the grocery man hesitatingly, with a feeling that he was liable to be sold. "If you will help, me to catch the villain who hutes up those disreputable signs in front of my store, I will. What is it?"

"I want you to lick this stamp and put it on this letter. It is a my girl, and I want to fool her," and the boy handed over the letter and stamp, and while the grocery man was licking it and putting it on, the boy filled his pockets with dried peaches out of a box.

"There, that's a small job," said the grocery man, as he pressed the stamp on the letter with his thumb and handed it back. "But how are you going to fool her?"

"That's juss business," said the boy, as he held the letter to his nose and smelled of the stamp. "That will make her tired. You see, every time she gets a letter from me she kisses the stamp, because she thinks I licked it. When she kisses this stamp and gets the fumes of plug, tobacco, and stale beer, and limburg cheese, and moulty potatoes, it will knock her down, and then she will ask me what ailed the stamp, and I will tell her I got you to lick it, and then it will make her sick, and her parents will stop trading her. O, it will paralyze her. Do you know you, smell like a glue factory. Gosh, I can smell you all over the store. Don't you smell anything that smells spoiled?"

The grocery man thought he did smell something that was rancid, and he look around the stove and finally kicked the boy's boot off the stove and said, "It's your boots burning. Greivous, open the door. It smells like a hot box on a cabbage. Whew? And there comes a couple of my best heavy customers." The ladies came in and held their handkerchiefs to their noses, and while they were trading the boy said, as though continuing the conversation:

"Yes, pa says that last oleomargarine I got here is nothing but axle grease. Why don't you put your axle grease in a lubent kind of a package? The only way you can tell axle grease from oleomargarine is in spreading it on a pane cake. Pa says axle grease will spread, but your oleo butter just rolls right up and sets like a soap, ornament, and is only fit to use on a soap."

At this point the ladies went out of the store in disgust, without buying anything, and the grocery man took a dried codfish by the tail and went up to the boy and took him by the neck. "Gosh, blast, you, I have a notion to kill you. You have eleven years more custom from this store than your neck is worth. Now you git," and he struck the boy across the back with the codfish.

"That's just the way with you all," says the boy, as he put his sleeve up to his eyes and pretended to cry. "when a fellow is up in the word, there is nothing too good for him, but when he gets down, you maul him with a codfish. Since pa drove me out of the house, and told me to go shirk for my living, I haven't had a kind word from anybody. My chum's dog won't even follow me, and when a fellow gets so low down that a dog goes back on him there is nothing left for him to do but loaf around a grocery, or sit on a jury, and I am too young to sit on a jury, though I know more than some of the leats that lay around the court to get on a jury. I am going to drown myself, and my death will be laid to you. They will find evidences of codfish on my clothes, and you will be arrested for driving me to a suicide's grave. Good-bye, I forgive you," and the boy started for the door.

"Hold on here," says the grocery man, feeling that he had been too harsh. "Come back here and have some maple sugar. What did your pa drive you away from home for?"

"O, it was on account of St. Patrick's Day," said the bad boy as he bit off half a pound of maple sugar, and dried his tears. "You see, pa never sees ma buy a new silk handkerchief, but he wants it. Tother day ma got one of these orange-colored handkerchiefs, and pa immediately had a sore throat and he wanted to wear it, and ma let him put it on. I thought I would break him of taking everything nice that ma got, so when he went down town with the orange handkerchief on his neck, I told some of the St. Patrick boys in the Third Ward, who had green ribbons on, that the old duffer was putting on style was an orange man, and he said he could whip any St. Patrick's Day man in town. The fellows laid for pa, and when he came along one of them threw a barrel at pa, and another pulled the yellow handkerchief off his neck, and they all yelled 'hang him,' and one grabbed a rope that was on the side-walk where they were moving a building, and pa got up and dusted. You'd a dide to see pa run. He met a policeman and said more'n a hundred men had tried to murder him, and they had mauld him and stolen his yellow handkerchief. The policeman told pa his life was not safe, and he better go home and lock himself in, and he did, and I was telling ma about how I got the boys to scare pa, and he heard it, and he told me that settled it. He said I had caused him to run more foot races than any champion pedestrian, and had made his life miserable, and now I must go it alone. Now I want you to send a couple of pounds of crackers over to the house, and have your boy tell the hired girl that I have gone down to the river to drown myself, and she will tell ma, and ma will tell pa, and pretty soon you will see a bald headed pussy man whooping it upon towards the river with a rope.

They may think at times, that I am a little tough, but when it comes to parting forever, they weaken."

"Well, the teacher at school says you are a hardened infidel," said the grocery man, as he charged the crackers to the boy's pa. "He says he had to turn you out to keep you from ruining the morals of the other scholars. How was that?"

"It was about speaking a piece. When I asked him what I should speak, he told me to learn some speech of some great man, some lawyer or statesman, so I learned one of Bob Ingersoll's speeches. Well, you'd a dide to see the teacher and the school committee, when I started in on Bob Ingersoll's lecture, the one that was in the papers when Bob was here. You see I thought if a newspaper that all the pious folks takes in their families, could publish Ingersoll's speech, it wouldn't do any hurt for a poor little boy, who ain't knee high to a giraffe, to speak it in school, but they made me dry up. The teacher is a republikin, and when Ingersoll was speaking around here on politics, the time of the election, the teacher said Bob was the smartest man this country ever produced. I heard him say that in a circus, when he went humming around the ward settin' 'em up nights, sporting to be superintendent of schools. He said Bob Ingersoll just took the cake, and I think it was darn mean in him to go back on Bob and me too, just cause there was no 'lection. The school committee made the teacher stop me, and they asked me if I didn't know any other piece to speak, and I told them I knew one of Beecher's, and they let me go ahead, but it was one of Beecher's new ones where he said he didn't believe in any hell, and afore I got warmed up they said that was enough of that, and I had to wind up on "Mary had a Little Lamb." None of them didn't kick on Mary's Lam, and I went through it, and they let me go home. That's about the satest thing a boy can speak in school, now days, either "Mary had a Little Lam," or "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star." That's about up to the average intellect of the committee. But if a boy tries to branch out as a statesman, they choke him off. Well, I am going down to the river, and I will leave my coat and hat by the wood yard, and get behind the wood, and you steer pa down there and you will see some tall weeping over them clothes, and maybe pa will jump in after me, and then I will come out from behind the wood and throw in a board for him to swim ashore on. Good bye. Give my pocket comb to my chum," and the boy went out and hung up a sign in front of the grocery, as follows: "Pop corn that the cat has slept in, cheap for pop corn balls for scorchies."

"How are we ever going to get through our spring and summer's work? We are all run down, tired out before it begins," so say many a farmer's family. We answer go to your druggist and pay five dollars for six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This is just the medicine you need, and will pay compound interest on the investment.

ELECTION RETURNS.

Chicago, April 4.—The count indicates that Carter Harrison, Democrat, is re-elected Mayor by 8,000 majority, and the remainder of the city ticket by reduced majorities, except O'Connor, citizens' candidate for City Treasurer, who is probably elected.

Springfield, Ill., April 4.—The election in this city passed off quietly yesterday. The Citizens' nominee for Mayor and other officers were elected over Democrats by majorities ranging from 10 to 700. The Democrats elect four out of seven Aldermen.

Kansas City, April 4.—The Democrats elected James Gibson Mayor, and the remainder of the city ticket except Auditor, which is yet in doubt. The Republicans and Democrats each elect three Councilmen. Council now stands seven Republicans, five Democrats.

The New Postmaster General.

Indianapolis, April 5.—Judge Gresham was born at Corydon, Harrison county, this State, and is just fifty-three years old. He was a member of the State Legislature in 1860, and went into the army at the outbreak of the war as Lieutenant Colonel of the Thirty-eighth Regiment. Afterwards he was Colonel of the Fifty-third Regiment; was Brigadier General and Brevet Major General. He was wounded before Atlanta in 1864. After the war he was State Agent. He ran twice for Congress against the late Mr. Kerr, and was beaten both times, but reduced the Democratic majority. He was appointed Judge by President Grant in 1869. It was a personal appointment, and took every one by surprise. He was and is a strong friend of Grant's, and was in favor of him for a third term in 1880.

A Villain Mobbed.

Houston, Tex., April 4.—A special from Moscow states that this morning the sun rose upon the body of a negro hanging suspended to a tree, who had suffered the penalty and vengeance of a justly incensed community for an attempt to outrage a white woman. Three weeks ago this fiend made an attempt upon the person of a white lady some distance from here, but was foiled. A few nights ago, having hired to a man on Jones' Prairie, he went to the house of a white tenant on the same place and made two similar efforts with a one hour, again failing in each. Sunday morning he had the hardihood to enter Moscow, and was instantly arrested and placed in jail. Last night a party took him out of jail, and after he had made a full confession, hung him to a tree.
